storage/redistribution component in the present invention should have a capillary suction specific surface area of at least about 0.3 m²/gram. Typically, the capillary suction specific surface area is in the range from about 0.7 to about 8 m²/gram, preferably from about 1 to about 7 m²/gram, most preferably from about 1.5 to about 6 m²/gram. The capillary suction specific surface area of a foam structure can be determined via the capillary suction method as described in detail in the TEST METHODS section of the aforementioned Dyer et al. '207 patent.--

IN THE DRAWINGS

Please substitute the attached pages 1/12, 2/12, 3/12, 5/12, 6/12, 8/12, 10/12, 11/12 and 12/12 for those originally filed. Red marked copies are also attached to more clearly identify the changes.
